WEDNESDAY MAY 12, 1909

The time never comes when a reconstruction does not imperil some great interest.—Heber Newton.

It is not a question of capital against labor, but of the agitator against the progress of Hawaii.

Reputable men in the Japanese colony must realize that no momentous opportunity ever offered them to show that they are on the side of co-operation and the common good as opposed to reckless agitation and anarchy.

Let the American-Hawaiian steamship operators have the benefit of your opinion on whether the new steamship should accommodate twenty-five or one hundred and twenty-five passengers. A timely word should accomplish much to help Honolulu.

STAND PAT AGAINST AGITATORS.

The Sugar Planters' Association is expected to stand firm against the Agitator and the Agitator's game. This labor question as it is now presented is most vital to the future of every right-thinking citizen and resident of this Territory.

It will be a sad day for the Japanese as well as the American if a weak and invertebrate policy is followed by those having the active management of the plantation industry in their hands.

This is a question of the Bludgown vs. Democracy, the Grafting Agitator vs. the Honest Workman.

In the interests of the great mass of laborers who are being misled, the plantation interests should resist to the utmost the movement now on foot. They must save the misguided men from themselves, for the first people to feel the bitter pinch of suffering in the campaign of the Agitators succeeds is the workman of the plantation.

The sugar interests in taking this firm stand should have the united and continued support—not a good word for two or three days and then criticism of the business community of every race and nationality, and particularly of the Japanese, who have all to lose and nothing to gain from the success of the Agitators.

The issue involved is more far-reaching than is represented in the wording of the demands written by the Agitators and presented by the men. If this movement is successful it means the control of the sugar industry by the most irresponsible elements that the city of Honolulu can muster. It is therefore as much the affair of the Japanese merchant and business man as the American.

The Agitators have been wily enough to include in their reasons for forcing a strike statements that have a semblance of appeal to fair play.

They, for instance, take up the point presented frequently by the Bulletin, that there should be a general readjustment of the wage schedule of the sugar plantation so that a man shall be paid for the character of his work regardless of his nationality or his race.

This is a subject that would unquestionably receive the favorable consideration of the sugar interests, if properly presented, but it cannot be discussed through any high wage movement carried on in the manner that has marked and now characterizes the present campaign.

It should be established now, and finally, if there be any doubt of it, that the industries of this Territory cannot be run by Agitators who are "working" the laborers to line their own pockets with gold and then leave the laborers in the lurch.

No better time has ever offered to face this issue. Every sugar plantation in these islands might better shut its mill doors and give the fields over to weeds than for this community to make the sacrifice of the Common Good and future prosperity and contentment that would inevitably result from recognition and concession to the arch agitators of Honolulu and their secret agents who now brazenly threaten the industrial progress of Hawaii.

Fortunately there is no reason to expect extreme results.

Under the laws passed by the last Legislature the labor market can be satisfied from Europe, after all the citizens of Hawaii have been set at work. And more promising than this is the general conviction that the great body of the Japanese people are not in sympathy with an upheaval that must in the long run reduce the earning capacity of the Japanese colony and bring discredit upon it that is by no means deserved.

A grand opportunity offers for the reputable element of the Japanese colony to make themselves felt for the welfare of Hawaii and the good name of the Japanese. The educated mechanics and farmers, the business men and the professional men must be quick to see that as far as the Agitators of Honolulu and plantation interests are concerned the present contest will be a contest to a finish.

These same reputable men must, however, present the cause of the plantation laborers in a manner that would attract the kindly attention of the community at large and those managing the plantations.

Reputable men of the city have it within their power to displace Agitation and Intimidation with Cooperation and Arbitration.

So far as the Agitators are concerned this Territory refuses to be run by them, and will so refuse. There is no middle ground on that score.

AMERICAN-HAWAIIAN'S NEW STEAMER.

At least something has been gained when the American-Hawaiian steamship people let a contract for a steamship with passenger accommodations to ply between this port and San Francisco.

But isn't twenty-five passengers a very small capacity to be offered by the line that carries the major portion of the forty millions dollars worth of freight shipped to and from these islands and the mainland?

The new steamer of this line should give Honolulu a passenger capacity of one hundred, and then it would not be overdoing the thing.

This city is bound to grow. The people are coming this way. And the American-Hawaiian steamship operators should have some measure of interest in the development of increased passenger traffic with the mainland, particularly as this Territory is standing pat on the question of the coastwise shipping protection.

For a line that carries the freight given the American-Hawaiian line, the steamship with first class accommodations for one hundred people is none too much. Sooner or later this Territory will support the interests that boost for Hawaii and are willing to reciprocate freight business with ships on which passengers may travel.

The American-Hawaiian line is big enough and wealthy enough and got enough of Hawaii's business to do something worth while in passenger offerings.

POST'S LOCATION.

The plans for the big brigade post are now being drawn in the Quartermaster - General's Department at Washington, and will probably be ready before very long. When the plans are completed they will be sent to Captain Castner, instructing quartermaster here, who will then send out the plans and specifications to probable bidders.

As the project is a large one, it is expected that big contracting firms all over the mainland will submit tenders as soon as the bids are advertised for and specifications are ready.

On July 1 there will be $200,000 available to commence work on the big post. As the total cost of construction will probably approach ten times that amount, it will be up to the War Department to decide where the start shall be made. Specifications will be sent out for only that portion of the work which it is decided can be completed within the $200,000 mark.

When the specifications are ready bids will have to be advertised for for thirty days. This means that work will begin on the date that the appropriation is available, tenders would have to be called for by the 15th of this month. This would

OMAOPIO EXCHANGE NEARLY COMPLETED

Governor Peary yesterday virtually completed the negotiations with the Maui Agricultural Company for the exchange by the Government of the Omaoipo cane land for the Hailu pineapple lands. The latter tract consists of 875 acres of good land, nearly all of which is suitable for the raising of pineapples. The Omaoipo lands comprise about 1,200 acres, including gulch land. Nearly all of it is good sugar land.

This deal has been under way for something over a year. Governor Peary has been to Maui two or three times and has gone over both tracts thoroughly.

The new land acquired by the Territory through this exchange will be cut up as soon as possible and thrown open for homesteading. It will accommodate a good-sized colony of small farmers. Much of the land in the vicinity is already in pineapples, which do remarkably well there.

ALCOHOL IN MEDICINES

Alcohol is the best known preservative of medical compounds, and the average proprietary medicine contains from 15 per cent to 22 per cent, which is the smallest possible amount to preserve the ingredients, while the average doctor's prescription contains from 25 per cent to 50 per cent.

Such standard preparations as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound contains but 18 per cent, and they even put the Compound up in tablet form, which the over-scrupulous woman, who objects to alcohol in any degree, may use.

OCEANIC S.S. COMPANY

William G. Irwin & Co., general agents for the Oceanic Steamship Company, have issued the following circular letter:

"We beg to draw the attention of the mercantile business community of the islands to the advantages now offered by the Oceanic S. S. Company in receiving overland freight for island consumption, and delivering island produce at the China Basin, the terminal point of the Overland Railroad service entering in San Francisco, without the expense of transshipment. The efficient regular three weekly service offered by the S. S. Alameda will prove a convenience to merchants receiving overland consignments by enabling them to place their goods on this market within the shortest possible period and at a minimum expense. In order that this service may be made effective, we would suggest to the patrons of the Oceanic S. S. Co. that by instructing their Eastern agents to route via the S. S. Alameda and the O. S. S. Co. line, at the first vessel calling at the China Basin, they will materially improve their opportunities for placing Eastern consignments on this route."

DAUGHTER OF ARCHIE MACKILLOP

Happy Young Bride Is On Her Way To The Orient

The daughter of Archie Mackillop passed through this port on the Monday on her wedding trip. How it all came about is told in the Call as follows:

From a chance meeting in midwinter on a trans-Pacific liner a few months ago, many years after they had first met as boy and girl, there has developed a romance that will reach the honeymoon stage next Tuesday at the St. Francis hotel in the marriage of Miss Georgiana Elizabeth Mackillop and J. S. Houston Frank, partner in the firm of Henderson & Frank, silk dealers of Yokohama, Paris and London. Frank was graduated from the University of California with the class of 1908, and is one of the wealthiest young men in San Francisco, his home city.

The young couple will spend most of their honeymoon in Yokohama. Mrs. Mackillop's home is at 201 South Oahu, fourth street.

Miss Mackillop, with her father, Archibald Mackillop, who is connected with the Crown distilleries, journeyed to Honolulu recently.

Frank, who was in Yokohama in charge of the silk firm, was called on business to San Francisco. The result he called on touched at Honolulu, and soon after Frank discovered that Miss Mackillop with her father were on the ship bound for home. The old girl and boy friendship was at once renewed, and developed rapidly into affection. March 17, the couple announced their engagement. May 4 a local Presbyterian minister will unite them.

Miss Christine Mackillop, sister of the bride to be, will act as bridesmaid.

A Few Bottles of Peruna
Restored Me to Health.

Mrs. John Henderson, 2 Overdale Ave., Montreal, Can., writes:

"I was much distressed with neuralgia and was so run down that life was not worth living. I tried a great many remedies, but all to no effect."

"I met a friend of mine, and told her of my ailment. She advised me to try her remedy, Peruna."

"Although I had no faith in Peruna, I took her advice, and am pleased to state that the neuralgia has entirely left me, and have gained so in health that I feel just like my old self again."

"I am enjoying the best of health. We have on file many thousand testimonials like the above. We can give our readers only a slight glimpse of the vast array of unsolicited endorsements Dr. Hartman is receiving."
